In Lugano, finding affordable and authentic Thai food can be a challenge, but Thai Suthin offers just that. Located near the lake, the restaurant provides fast service and a cozy atmosphere. While some found the prices a bit high for takeout, the flavors were praised for being authentic. With limited dining options open late in the area, Thai Suthin stands out as a go-to spot for a delicious meal after hours. While some reviewers found the food to be overly salty or lacking in quality, others raved about the red curry and the helpful service provided by the staff. Whether looking for a quick takeout option or a cozy dine-in experience, Thai Suthin in Lugano offers a taste of Thailand in the heart of Ticino.
